DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO MARCH 13.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—In the House the resolution for a joint committee on Indian affairs was debated. After considerable discussion the resolution was agreed to—25 to 47.

Bingham moved a joint resolution fixing the day for final adjournment on the last Friday in March, 25th; adopted—118 to 111.

Banks introduced a resolution to recognize the independence of Cuba, when a republican form of government shall have been established; also a resolution to open negotiations for the annexation of San Domingo to the United States; referred to Committee on Foreign Affairs.

A resolution was adopted instructing the Judiciary Committee to report a bill on the subject of the naturalization laws, so as to prevent frauds.

Schenck introduced his bill to strengthen the public credit and legalize gold contracts.

Ali on moved to strike out the second section; agreed to—86 to 57. The bill was then passed.

The Speaker presented the resignation of Boutwell. He also stated that he would announce the Standing Committees on Monday. Adjourned to Monday.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Chas. Wallace, editor of the Warrenton, Georgia, Gazette, was shot and instantly killed by Dr. Darden. The latter had blackballed Wallace, who had applied for admission into a Masonic lodge. Wallace thereupon attacked Darden in his paper, denouncing him as a liar and villain. Darden shot him with a rifle, from the window of his office.

Boutwell formally entered on the duties of his new office of Secretary of the Treasury to day. He was met at the Department by a large number of officeseekers.

The officers of the Navy, stationed around Washington, proceeded in a body to the office of Secretary Bovie to day, where they were presented with Admiral Dahlgren. The Secretary received them in the most cordial manner. The entire body then proceeded to the White House, where General Grant received them in the east room. Among those present were Admiral Porter, Smith, Shubrick, Goldsborough, Dahlgren, Poor, Howard and Powell. While the naval officers were exchanging salutations, the officers of the army, headed by Generals Sherman and Schofield, entered. Generals Grant and Sherman shook hands warmly. The latter introduced the officers in turn, all of whom were professed congratulations. Among those present were Generals Harney, Emery, Meigs, Terry, Barnes, Thomas, Hardie, Heintzleman and Eli.

During the interview General Rawlings entered and was earnestly congratulated by the officers present upon his recent appointment.

The rush of visitors to the White House was very great to-day. A delegation of the Loyal League of Alexandria, Va., including several colored men, called on the President this afternoon. The chairman read a short address complimentary of the President. Grant replied that he was glad to meet them, and hoped and believed before the end of the year Virginia would be restored to self government and representation in Congress.

A delegation of Irish Republicans from New York called on the President, and tendered their congratulations, and pledged the support of the Irish Republicans of America to his administration. There was no speech-making.

Commissioner Delano has issued instructions to Supervisors, that hereafter all Collectors who sell liquor stamps after receiving notice not to do so shall be considered to have given cause for suspension. The law provides that the Collector shall issue stamps in a book to gaugers, who shall put them on the casks.

The Supervisor of Currency of the Louisiana Revenue District has left Washington with instructions to vigorously prosecute the cases commenced, and rigidly enforce the laws.

Secretary Bovie has issued orders revoking the sentence of Captain Collins, convicted of negligence, whereby the steamer Sacramento was lost, in consequence of his good behavior during the rebellion. The pay of Capt. Collins, forfeited by means of the same sentence, is restored to him. He has also revoked the sentence and restored the pay to Lieut. Commander Backes.

Senator Morton has consented to deliver an address at the dedication of the Gettysburg National Monument on the 1st of July, 1869. Bayard Taylor will deliver an original poem, and Henry Ward Beecher will be chaplain on the occasion.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The Tribune's special says the President has said that he would nominate Gen. Sickles as Minister to Mexico. Gen. Bullard is also to have a foreign mission, but which is not stated. Gen. Sheridan approves of the appointment of Longstreet as Collector of New Orleans. Minister Washburne will not go to France before the end of April. Congressman Julian, who represents a large Quaker constituency, argues for the appointment of a Quaker Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Vice President Colfax goes West with his family next week, to remain ten days. Senator Anthony will preside during his absence.

The Iowa Congressmen have agreed to recommend the reinstatement of all office holders of that State, removed by Johnson for devotion to Republican principles.

General Sheridan will be assigned to the command of the Department of the Mississippi, with his headquarters at St. Louis. He is not to go to New Orleans, as was originally intended.

Johnson pocketed the bill adding two Majors to the corps of Judge Advocates of the army.

There was great disappointment because the House committees were not announced yesterday. There has been much contention on the subject. Several sharp letters have been addressed to Speaker Blaine, and several stormy interviews had.

Miscellaneous.

The Tribune thinks that Congress will not adjourn before the last of April.

The Times' thinks that Congress will adjourn at the end of March.

BUFFALO, March 12.—A delegation from the New York Corn Exchange is here. A meeting will be held to-morrow to discuss matters of importance to the commercial interests of the West.

BOSTON, March 12.—A large fleet of fishing vessels arrived at Gloucester yesterday, from the Banks, having suffered from the almost uninterrupted severity of the weather. It is said their loss will consume their profits for the present year.

RALEIGH, March 12.—The House has passed a resolution instructing the Senate to request the Representatives in Congress to vote for the repeal of the Tenure of Office Act.

KEY WEST, March 11.—Dr. Mudd was released from the Dry Tortugas and arrived here to day, en route North.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The jury returned a verdict for $10,000 in favor of Danforth H. Barney, and against Otto Burstenbinder and others, for damages sustained by the explosion of nitroglycerine at San Francisco.

BUFFALO, March 13.—There was a grand Fenian demonstration to-night. Gen O'Neil addressed the meeting.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Gen Jordon, formerly chief of Beauregard's staff, recently disappeared from Charleston. It is currently reported that he has sailed for Cuba to assist the insurgents. It is further reported that he is acting with the full knowledge and consent of Grant, who assured him that no American taken in the rebellion should be dealt harshly with by the Spanish authorities.

The Herald denounces the action of the Pennsylvania Congressmen who voted in the caucus for the resolution that each member will have control of the appointments in his district. The districts represented by Democrats to be controlled by the State Senators.

BALTIMORE, March 13.—Judge Moore, former Senator from Maine, died at Lynchburg, Va., on Tuesday.

Judge Russell, of North Carolina, has issued a proclamation commanding the surrender or arrest of several prominent Ku Klux. He authorizes any citizens to capture or shoot them if they resist.

Georgia Legislature

ATLANTA, March 12.—The State Senate passed the 15th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States without debate, 21 to 16, six members not voting.

The House resolved to reconsider the action of yesterday adopting the Amendment, 13 to 44.

A resolution to take action on the Amendment was lost. Extreme Radicals and extreme Democrats do not support its adoption.

West Indies.

HAVANA, March 12.—The insurgent general, Juan Lopez, was captured and shot. The Diario announces the capture of several insurgents of the advance guards, near Jibara. They were immediately killed.

Stagnation and distrust in business circles is increasing. Many merchants in Santiago have failed.

The United States squadron in the West Indies is insignificant in numbers, compared with the English and French fleets, that the American residents have denounced this apparent parsimony or ignorance on the part of the Government in keeping so small a fleet in Cuban waters, in the present condition of affairs.

Advices from Sagua state that the fighting between the troops and the insurgents is lively.

A Cienfugor dispatch of yesterday says 1,000 Spanish troops had arrived. All the railroads are now guarded, but the rebels are numerous and active.

Santiago advices to the 7th of March say that Lopez' column entered Miaro after a desperate conflict.

The rebels attacked Jigangara but were repulsed and fled to the mountains.

The news from Sante Espiritu says Col. Puello has issued an address to the effect that the time for conciliation is ended.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

MADRID, March 12.—Figuerola, the Minister of Finance, has asked for a loan of 1,000,000,000 reals to meet the extraordinary expenses of the Government.

The Cortes rejects the restitution of capitation and conscription.

PARIS, March 12.—The bullion in the Bank of France has increased 11,000,000 francs.

VIENNA, March 12.—The Austrian Budget has passed a deficit of 3,000,000 francs.

LONDON, March 12.—In the House of Commons this evening, Howe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, stated that if the mail contracts with the Inman Steamship Company were sanctioned the steamers of that line would sail from Queenstown every Friday for New York, instead of every Thursday, as heretofore.

LONDON, March 13.—In the House of Commons last night Mr. Sely moved the appointment of a committee on the mail contract entered into with the United States Postmaster-General. He said the contract was completed by the late Government, and its violation would be a breach of faith. He added that the present service was satisfactory. The motion was adopted by 115 to 86.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The following mining companies in White Pine District have been incorporated: Opal, Empire, Great Union Tunnel, Oakland, North Carolina, Washington and Snowflake.

The North Pacific Transporation Company have filed a certificate of incorporation. The object of the company is to transport freight and passengers by steamship in the North Pacific waters; capital, five million dollars. Trustees—Wm. Alvord, H. C. Ralston, Lloyd Tevis, H. F. Babcock, Alvinza Hayward, S. F. Butterworth.

Judge Pratt quashed a writ certiorari in the case of the Montgomery street extension appeal from the County Court, which is equivalent to the decision in favor of straight extension.

San Francisco Markets.

Wheat—The bulk of receipts consists of purchases made in the interior, some time since, at prices above current rates. We quote the market quiet at $1 40@1 55 for common to fair, and $1 55@1 65 from fair to choice.

Barley—200 sks coast feed, at $2; 500 sks brewing at $2 10; feed ranges from $1 90 to $2 10; brewing, $2 10@2 20. Holders demand an advance on above figures.

Oats—200 sks fair California, at $1 80; quotable at $1 75@2 15. 200 sks extra, Orifiamme, Oregon, at $2 10, quotable at $2 05@2 15.

In the Labor Exchange during the week 172 men and 75 women were employed. To-day 16 men and 6 women were employed.

NEVADA.

CARSON CITY, March 13.—About half-past ten o'clock last night the dwelling house of Nelson Stortomine was nearly consumed by fire. Loss about one thousand dollars; no insurance. It was the work of an incendiary. The family are almost destitute.

VIRGINIA CITY, March 13.—It has been snowing most of day, with a mild south wind. The snow disappears as fast as it falls.

There have been two new cases of small pox, and two deaths therefrom.

It has been ascertained that the fire of last night originated from the breaking of a coal oil lamp. The damage is estimated in the aggregate at $15,000. The sufferers are Mr. Scott, dance house, a colored woman, keeping a lunch house adjoining; Robert Cochrane, tin shop; H. Batteau, painter; Sobell & Holmes, gunsmiths, and Fensler & Co., proprietors of the Express block. The latter only are insured—in the Imperial Co. So rapid was the spread of the flames, that but little was saved from the buildings destroyed.

The Pacific Union Express Company shipped five bars of bullion last evening, valued at $7,515 49. Owing to the fire, Wells, Fargo & Co. failed to make any shipment.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, March 13.—By the arrival of the schooner Surprise, Captain Christianson, from the west coast of this island, intelligence is received of the loss of an English bark, supposed to be the John Bright, with all on board, near Nootka Sound. Captain Christianson thinks the bark was lost about the 5th or 9th of February, during a heavy gale which lasted two days. When first seen by the Captain, the wreck was lying on a rocky beach some three miles to the southward of Nootka Sound, and not far from an Indian village. She was lying on her beam ends, the sea making a clean sweep over her, the foremast alone remaining intact. Some days afterwards the Captain was enabled to board the wreck and he found that she had been laden with lumber, which lay scattered along the beach. The wreck had been stripped of her houses, and the Indians asserted that none of her people, dead or alive, had been seen. They told, however, contradictory stories connected with the wreck, which aroused the suspicions of Captain Christianson, and upon diligent inquiry he finally ascertained that two of the bodies had drifted ashore from the wreck. One, that of a woman, lay on the beach just where the Indians had dragged it, beyond the mark of high water. The flesh had nearly disappeared from the face and body, and it was impossible either to recognize the remains or discover marks of violence. The clothing had been stripped off and carried away by the natives. Three rings, taken from the fingers of the woman by the natives were purchased by Captain Christianson, who brought them with him to Victoria, together with an account book, in which was written the supposed name of the bark. One of the rings has on it the initial letters "P. M." The name of the vessel was gone from her stern. One of the natives claims to have seen the bark, before she came ashore, trying to beat off the coast, and says she struck early in the morning. The place where the wreck lies is a dangerous reef which makes out some distance from shore. The bark is supposed to have sailed from Port Townsend for a South American port, with a cargo of lumber, about the 1st of February last. From appearances at present she was an old vessel.

Last year the passenger travel between England and France was only 366,330, a number which must have been considerably less than that between Boston and New York.

The Discovery of White Pine.

A correspondent of the Virginia Enterprise, writing from Treasury City, Nev., gives an interesting account of the discovery of the White Pine mines by an Indian named Nappias and one Leathers, a blacksmith. The latter got some of the ore and melted the silver out of it, thus proving its richness. The correspondent then proceeds:

In my last Leathers was left on his way home after his first visit to the districts, bewildered with his discovery, unable to comprehend it. He had been on the Hidden Treasure ledge all the time he was knocking off the specimens, with which he and Nappias returned, heavily laden, to camp, but the thought that all of these numerous seeming boulders were but the outcroppings of one of the most magnificent ledges yet discovered never entered his head. He put the specimens brought with him through the test of the forge at such times as he could escape observation, and always with the same exciting result. His conduct began to excite the attention of his comrades. He became strangely mysterious. Marchand, the Superintendent, began to notice a sudden inclination on the part of Leathers for scientific inquiry, yet so cautiously did he always approach his subject that they never divined his object. Meanwhile Nappias was supremely happy.

LEATHERS AGAIN VISITS HIS HIDDEN TREASURE.

There is a limit to all human endurance. At last, who knows how many anxious days and sleepless nights, Leathers again set out for another sight of his tantalizing wealth. Yet once on the ground the same bewildering fears again possessed him. He tramped again and again up and down, around and about, above and below, in and upon his ledge, and yet felt that he could not find it. Again he returned to camp, loaded down with specimens, yet he had not dared to put a notice on the ground for fear he would miss the ledge, call attention to the discovery and lose it all. Now he concealed the matter from his comrades so long is strange, but he certainly kept his secret, and Nappias, happy in his new found luxury, was faithful and true.

THE SECRET OUT AT LAST.

Finding that he consulted the oracles of fire in vain, that he was impotent to pluck from the hearts of the books about him the mystery of his discovery, and unable longer to resist, he took the Superintendent, Marchand, into his confidence, told him of the wealth he had found, and they set out together for the third visit to the mysterious treasure. Marchand, once on the ground, was not long in comprehending the situation, showed Leathers the vein matter and the adjacent country rock, pointed out the vein, its course, width, probable dip, etc. They immediately located it under the name of the Hidden Treasure, and called the mountain Treasure Hill. They sunk 25 pounds of the rock, took it to Austin, had it assayed, and found it yielded $1 50 per pound, making $3,000 per ton. This was the middle of September, 1867. So long had Leathers agonized under his fear, ever since the 4th of July previous. Here I leave him for the present.

OTHERS GET WIND OF THE DISCOVERY.

Le

Human Tails.

If there some of our domestic animals pre- it such extreme variations in the length of tail, the question naturally suggests itself n man who is constructed on the same ral plan with other mammals ever pre- nts an analogous variation? There is no atomical impossibility in the supposition, r we also possess rudimentary tail bones, own in the human skeleton as the coccy- al bones, and forming the lower end of the inal column. If these little bones, which rudimentary vertebræ, were increased in mber, a bona fide tail would be the result. oreover, M. de Quatrefages observes, "in e embryonic state, every human being has tail, fully as long as that of the puppy at s corresponding period of development. onsequently all that is required for the pro- uction of a tail is the occurrence of one of ose phenomena which are commonly termed olongations of development, consequent on crest of metamorphosis. There is no possi- le reason why such a phenomenon should ot occur here; and there is nothing absurd the supposition that the human coccyx, which is composed of the union of the coc- geal vertebræ, instead of ceasing to grow, s is usually the case, should in exceptional ases continue to grow, so as not merely to e apparent in the adult, but to possess a ength proportioned to that which always at- ains in the embryo." There is, thus, noth- ng impossible in the idea of human tail, and hat point being settled, the question arises, re there, or have there ever been, undoubted ases of men with this appendage. The evi- lence at first sight is far the more abundant for than against tails; but unfortunately the witnesses in favor of tails often break down during examination. We have a little difficulty in finding A, who swears that he has seen B, who has a tail; but we have never been able to catch B himself, and put him, tail and all, into the scientific witness-box. Pliny, Claudius Ptolemy, and other early writers, frequently refer to men with tails. Marco Polo, in the thirteenth century, states that he met with such men in Central Asia, and Struys, the Dutch traveler, saw them in For- mosa in the seventeenth century. To come to more recent times, Sonneret, in the latter half of the last century, describes them as existing at Mendanao, in Africa; while Gem- elli found them in the Moluccas, De Maillet Barbary, and Ribiero in Angerica. Gronovi- us, who lived for fifteen years in Borneo, as- sured the celebrated French navigator, Du- mont d'Urville, in the present century, that he had seen many persons with tails from one to two inches in length. Ducouret declares that he has seen a similar case in an African at Mecca; and the son of the Sultan of Fez- zan assured Isidore Goeffroy, the eminent physiologist, of the existence of men with this peculiar characteristic. After quoting these authorities, M. de Quatrefages adds that he received analogous statements, not, indeed, from an actual eye-witness, but from a man on whose veracity he places implicit faith, and who states that the existence of men with tails is recognized as a fact in Egypt, and lastly, that M. Le Saint, a well-known scien- tific traveler, shortly before his death, which occurred a few months ago, traveling in Cen- tral Africa, wrote to tell him of an individual with a caudal appendage whom he had seen in Upper Egypt, and who intended to visit Europe. This tail had, however, not turned up in Paris when the lecture was delivered. While the older writers described tails on a large scale (for their men had an appen- dage of from 6 inches in length and shape resembling that of a dog,) modern travelers draw less largely on our credulity, and the tails which they describe only extend a few inches in length. Although there is not a shadow of evidence in support of a race of men with tails (for the Niam-niams are a purely imagi- nary tribe,) these little tails or tailettes seem undoubtedly to occur, although they are by no means common. To possess a tail is, how- ever, no privilege, especially to those whose avocations compel them to be much on horseback. M. Isidore Goeffroy told M. de Quatrefages a piteous story of a French trooper with a tail, which, although it caused him serious embarrassment, was not regarded as a sufficient reason for allowing him to re- tire from the service. Riding on the top of one's tail (for it is never in these degenerate days long enough to curl up) cannot be an agreeable amusement; and we should strong- ly advise any young gentleman provided with this abnormal appendage who may read these lines carefully, to avoid entering a cavalry reg- iment.—Once a Week.

ONIONS AS A DISINFECTANT.—Small pox has prevailed on the Pacific coast to so alarming an extent that the fact has attracted very gen- eral attention, resulting in many theories re- garding its origin, and the discovery of many disinfectants. A correspondent of a news- paper says: "In the Spring of 1849 I was in charge of one hundred men on shipboard, and the cholera among them. We had onions, which a number of the men ate freely. Those who did so were soon attacked, and nearly all died. As soon as I made this discovery their use was forbidden. After mature deliberation I came to the conclusion that onions should never be eaten during prevalence of epidemics, for the reason that they ab- sorb the virus, and communicate the disease, and the proper use for them is sliced and placed in the sick room, and replaced with fresh ones every few hours. It is a well es- tablished fact that onions will extract the poison of snakes; this is personally known Some kinds of mud will do the same. After maintaining the foregoing opinion for eight- teen years, I have found the following well at- tested. Onions placed in a room where there is small pox will blister and decompose with great rapidity; not only so, but will pre- vent the spread of the disease. I think that, as a disinfectant, they have no equal when properly used; but keep them out of the stomach. If needed, the foregoing (which I have greatly abbreviated) can be attested on oath." It is also a fact that onions exposed to the small pox will break out with pustules, just like a person with the disease.

One of our eminent citizens "had com- pany" a few evenings since, when the euphony of different languages, particularly the Ger- man, was discussed. A little ten-year-old boy "put in his oar" thusly: "Ma, I can talk Dutch." "You talk Dutch, Georgia! Let me hear?" The household hopeful promptly gave a taste of his lingual quality as follows: "Who'se pin here since I'se pin gone?"

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!
IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.
It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless cases of CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought into public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.
It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN, and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Harrisburg, Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

E B MOORE,	NATHANIEL BELL,

OF THE
Weekly Oregonian.
FOR 1869.
Nineteenth Volume!
Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing, AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.—By the steamer Continental we have the Commercial Herald of the 10th, from which we glean the following items regarding the markets:

The receipts of breadstuffs from Oregon and the interior of our State continue large, and notwithstanding the very liberal exports that have continued uninterrupted since July last, our stocks are yet considerable, far in advance of any previous year at a corresponding date. Judging from present indications, we are likely to have a lull in the shipping demand for both flour and wheat. Orders from the United Kingdom are being withdrawn, or being limits reduced to an extent that forbids their execution at current rates of wheat and freights. The result is inevitable; we will go into another harvest with a very large surplus which must necessarily act as an incubus upon the value of the new crop, which to all human appearances now promises to be at least one third greater than any previous harvest. The market for all kinds of feed grain, etc., is depressed and prices easier to the buyer.

The demand for wool, hides and tallow exceed the supply, and prices show a slight upward tendency. Lumber does not move off as quickly as is desirable, yet the local manufacturing requirement is very healthy.

The receipts of certain articles of Oregon produce from January 1st to date, have been as follows: Flour, qr sks 194,806; wheat, sks 11,020; oats, sks 29,544; barley, sks 240; salmon, bbls 455, hf bbls 85, pkgs 167; bacon, pkgs 1,327; beef, bbls 362; butter, pkgs 15, pkgs 12; hams, pkgs 109; lard, pkgs 1,051; pork bbls 109; dried apples, pkgs 840."

Flour—The export requirement has of late greatly fallen off, with few sales of importance transpiring. The stock is increasing, by reason of liberal supplies from the interior and from Oregon. Our local city mills are for the most part idle, simply running a few hours daily for the supply of feeds.

Wheat—There is little doing in the way of purchases either for export or milling.

Oats—By reason of unexpected liberal supplies, prices have declined.

Wool—Quotable at 18@20c.

Tallow—Higher, and sales noted at 8@8½c.

Hides—Oregon, quoted at 2½@3½c.

Apples—Choice $2@3; common, $1 25@1 50 per box.

Fresh fruits market—An increased inquiry for candles at a slight improvement in rates. Coffees are quite neglected with the exception of Old Government Java, which has been placed at high rates. Dry goods remain quiet and unchanged. Fish of all kinds are in favor. French fruits both dull and nominal. Fruits, sauces, etc., are quiet; raisins plenty and cheap. Gunny bags are dull. Gunpowder is unchanged in value. Metals are more inquired for. Pig iron is higher. Molasses and syrups receive more attention as the limit for an active spring trade approaches. Oils are more or less nominal. Provisions are quiet, though meats and lard are inclined to firmness. Rice is scarce. Salt is in limited supply at high rates. Soap is tending upwards by reason of short supply of chemical, olive and palm; castile is without change. Spices are quiet. Spirits are dull and nominal. Sugars command increased attention and is higher. Teas are unchanged. Tobacco is dull. Wines are without change. Other articles unchanged.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.—We learn from the Register that there has been an unusual mortality among children of Vancouver during the last week. There were four deaths between the 8th and 11th..... The Register says: "The thermometer stood 110 degrees above zero, March 11th, at the garrison in this city."—Guess there is some mistake in the figures unless the thermometer was immersed in something warmer than the weather..... The stock of the O. R. & N. S. Railroad Co. held a meeting last Tuesday. They expect a business visit this week from [illegible]. In relation to the coal discovery on Lewis River, the Register says: "The vein is 14 inches thick and 7 feet in width. Outcroppings were struck last fall by Mr. Dole, and a joint stock company of eight incorporated was formed to prospect and ascertain the hypothetic value. Three tunnels have been run for that purpose. The 8th of March the vein was struck, and the anticipations of the company are fully realized. There will be a load of the coal in Vancouver to-day. There is much excitement over it, and a general rush to take up claims in Clark county."

CAPT. Turnbull has gone to San Francisco to procure new machinery for the Mystic Troup..... The Vancouver Hibernians will be tickety tickety will visit Portland on the 17th, to celebrate the celebration of St. Patrick's Day..... Rev. Mr. Nicholson is announced to deliver a lecture next Sunday evening on the subject of "The Pilgrim Fathers"..... The Register relates the following: "Last Saturday night occurred in the theater the usual row. We never very much approved in the theater on [illegible] when the courtship of [illegible] (Mr. Glover) urged his suit in vain upon the fair hand of Croissey, because not [illegible] with [illegible], who appeared to take [illegible] in the play. As the [illegible] with all the [illegible] of a lover, and [illegible] sung out, "Grind and call it square." [illegible] a dog [illegible] them [illegible] to growl, when the other, [illegible] dog to stop, cried out, "Stop [illegible] growling and go [illegible]."

CITY ITEMS.—The [illegible] says from the [illegible] of Saturday: We [illegible] that the F. T. [illegible] are petitioning the Common Council for the right of way through a portion of the city for the locks [illegible] to be built by the C. [illegible] Company..... A large pile driving [illegible] completed at Mill No. 3, O. C. R. R., to be used to [illegible] bottom for use..... The calendar for the [illegible] term of the Circuit Court for Clackamas county, beginning on Monday next, presents a more extensive list than at any previous term. There are, in all, fifty-six causes, as follows: Six criminal, 12 civil suits, 21 actions for right of way, etc., brought by the O. C. R. R. Co., and 17 equity causes, 17 of which are for divorces. It is doubtful if court adjourns until three weeks..... Workmen are employed in removing the woodon building from the lot upon which the Odd Fellows' Hall will be constructed in this city..... We observe that iron pipes for an extension of the street mains of the Oregon City Water Works have arrived..... The Willamette Falls Canal and Lock Company have employed Mr. Calvin Pearson, of San Francisco, to make the locations and plans for the work, and he is now so engaged. Mr. Browne is a civil engineer of considerable note. He had charge of the [illegible] on public works at Mare Island, [illegible] Valley..... Mr. T. R. Brooks, Civil Engineer of O. C. R. R., left this city on Thursday morning last, to [illegible] the grade of the entire line, that he may be able to be done when active operations [illegible] Teams are busily engaged in hauling [illegible] of the new machine shop and [illegible] in this city this year. The machinery [illegible] to this place. The owners are [illegible] Stevens and L. D. Harding.

MILLS, ETC.—The Oregon City Enterprise says: "The Oregon Iron Company have resolved to [illegible] operations entirely, as soon as the present stock of ore and coal is exhausted, which will be about June 20th. Mr. Harris, the Superintendent of work, is now the only head man remaining at Oswego, and he will start for the Atlantic States as soon as work is suspended. This State of affairs is to be regretted very much, but we do not know as it can be helped. The Company have [illegible] the fact that iron, equal to Scotch pig, can be made in Oregon. They also find it to be a profitable [illegible] when not interrupted by lawsuits and delays. The chief cause for their determination to do as above stated is the same that would have caused the O. C. R. R. to give up its contract long ago, if they had lacked "backbone," and comes from the foolish opposition of parties who had not capital to carry on the business, but seemed [illegible] of those who had, and having technical grounds upon which to base action, literally pitched into them, but for what object we are unable to say." Should the Company withdraw from Oswego and remove their works or allow them to remain idle, the parties litigant at Oswego will very soon find they have acted unwisely, and that they have not only given a mortal stab at their own interests but have also done an injury to the general interests of the State. Enterprises of this sort should be fostered and encouraged by all possible means; for, by their [illegible] only can the country be developed and general prosperity be advanced.

ONE FINE THEATER.—Mr. and Mrs. Bates having returned from San Francisco, with an addition of several actors to their company, Oro Fino Theater will be re-[illegible] evening, with the splendid comedy of "London Assurance." The principal characters are cast as when the piece was played before, but as to nearly all the minor characters the cast is new. We learn that it is the intention of Mr. Bates to prolong the present season as long as the patronage of our people shall be commensurate with the increased expense to be incurred in the employment of a full and first class stock company, and every necessary stage appointment. Among the actors to the theater is a first class scene painter from San [illegible], who will be constantly employed in painting for new pieces. There is to be greater variety than ever before, and the plays to be presented will be of the highest dramatic character. We understand that as soon as the necessary preparations can be made, several of the most celebrated modern sensational and spectacular pieces will be presented, with every possible [illegible] and all the attainable stage effects. We do not doubt but the return and reappearance of Mr. and Mrs. Bates and company will be hailed by a crowding house to-night; and we sincerely hope that our people will continue to sustain them liberally throughout the season and thus assist in establishing permanently in this city a legitimate temple of the drama.

PERSONAL.—Mr. F. M. Bates and wife returned from San Francisco by the steamer Continental, accompanied by several gentlemen who will appear with them at the re-opening of Oro Fino Theater this evening..... Mr. P. Thayer returned Saturday evening from Salem, where he had been spending a few days pleasantly and, we hear, profitably. He will re-appear with the Bates company this evening..... Gen. M. M. McCarver and family left Oregon on Saturday by the steamer Gussie Telfair, for their new home at Tacoma, Puget Sound. The General was among the earliest settlers of this country. The Lord Mayor of Sclo, George Washington Stroud, is in this city. He is not going east to see his aged parents, and don't expect any appointment.

DOWN THE RIVER.—We learn from the Register that at St. Helens the Pacific Hotel has been purchased by Nelson Hoyt, for a residence, of J. W. Woodward, who has removed to Tumwater, W. T..... Mr. Bonser, who formerly kept a hotel at Freeport, W. T., intends soon to open a photograph gallery at St. Helens..... The road from Fort Stevens to a point near Skipanon Landing has been completed by the united efforts of J. F. Saunders, settler of the post, and Major Darling, commanding the post. Mr. H. D. Huntington, of Monticello, says that in driving a pump for water, at that place, wood was struck at the depth of 75 feet. Extensive logging camps are in operation near Deer Island. Improvements in fences, etc., are the order of the day.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, JUDGE.—The following were the proceedings in this court on Saturday.

United States vs. P. Oberheim; action to recover penalties; plea of misnomer filed, and plaintiff on motion had leave to amend complaint. Cartwright for the United States; Logan for defendant.

In the matter of R. A. Sutherland in bankruptcy, application for discharge continued until Monday next.

In the matter of Muller and Bretano in bankruptcy, continued until next Monday.

Adjourned until Monday.

ARMS DISJOINTED.—Mr. Carroll was thrown from a wagon loaded with wood, at the foot of Alder street, Saturday afternoon, by which one of his ankles was dislocated.

PASSENGERS FOR VICTORIA.—The steamship Gussie Telfair, Seth H. commander sailed for Victoria at [illegible] Back Bay, last evening, taking the following named passengers: Miss Pearson, Miss Ellen Peters, Mr James Gallagher, wife and two children, Major S. Francis, A. Haine, A. W. Damon, Mrs. L. Ryan and child, Mrs. Driscoll, B. F. Chase, Mr. Autry, J. E. Pennell, E. S. Hutchinson and three children, Mrs. A. H. Krause, D. Rogers, H. K. Norwood, A. F. Norwood, C. Cunningham, Miss General McCarver, Miss Virginia McCarver, Miss Betty McCarver, Miss Nonna McCarver, A. Seelman, J. M. Eastland, Capt. H. D. R. Cox, R. F. Tygard, George Zigler, Peter Cunningham, J. Du H. Burns, Frank Smith, Rev. A. Cartwright, Robert Davis, T. Quinn, D. J. Hayes, J. W. Cooper, Homer J. Du Bois, Richard Sandy and child.

CONCERT.—Owing to the return of the Dramatic Company, Oro Fino Theater cannot be had for the concert to be given on Tuesday evening by Miss Oc[illegible]. The entertainment will, therefore, be given at D. Eccles' Hall, which is [illegible] large, [illegible] of [illegible]. An excellent [illegible] will be [illegible] Hall.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Orange Prather, an old resident of this city, died yesterday at his residence, corner of Ash and North Front street, of malignant erysipelas, after an illness of but a few days. He had not been seen about for some days. He leaves a large family to mourn his loss.

CAPTAIN GRAY'S WIFE.—We are informed upon reliable authority that [illegible] has been received in this city that several capitalists [illegible] have started recently for Oregon in the steamer Continental, [illegible] in search of Capt. Gray's wife. We have little doubt but they will succeed in finding her.

ESCAPED.—Frank Whitney escaped from the city jail on Saturday by removing some bricks over the door, and crawling through the hole thus made. No difficulty in accomplishing this, as the prisoners are such an [illegible] shell, for [illegible].

TO SAIL.—The steamship Continental is advertised to sail for San Francisco at 4 o'clock P. M. next Wednesday.

The Musket.

We glean the following interesting summary of the various changes effected in the musket from Doctor Hermann Meyment's "History of the Military art and Organization of Armies," the third volume of which has just come out at Vienna. The musketeer was, as late as 1689 provided with a heavy wooden fork, which he had to stick into the ground with the prongs uppermost, to serve as a support for his matchlock, which he had to load with his powderhorn and measure, keeping the ball meanwhile between his lips.

The wadding he had to get from his hat. Nevertheless the wheel-lock, provided with pyrites instead of flint, had long been invented, but seems never to have come into general use in the armies except for cavalry pistols. The French lock which preceded the percussion system was invented as early as 1640, though it of course received successive improvements. But even before that time Gustavus Adolphus had introduced a great improvement in musketry, by reducing the weight of the piece to ten pounds instead of fifteen. This enabled the soldier to do away with the fork, and therefore increased the rapidity of the fire, the ballet weighed an ounce. Another improvement of his was the paper cartridge, which, however, at first only contained the powder, the bullets being kept in a bag. The iron ramrod did not supercede the wooden one until 1742, when it was introduced into the Prussian army by Prince Leopold of Anhalt-Dessau. The bayonet was preceded by various contrivances, such as an arc attached to the barrel, then a dagger, etc., stuck into the latter. But as this was an impediment to firing, a ring was added, about 1691, to the bayonet, whereby the blade, instead of covering the muzzle, came to be flush with its rim. This, however, was still inconvenient for loading, so that at length the bayonet was provided with a neck, as it now is. This was about 1705. Cartridge boxes were also introduced; at first they were very small, but the Germans soon enlarged them so as to contain forty of them. Nevertheless, for a long time after, priming was done with the powder horn, until at length the plan of using some of the powder of the cartridge was hit upon. Dr. Meynert's work may now be considered the completest history of military improvements that has yet appeared.

HUMORS OF LEGISLATION.—A special dispatch to the Chicago Tribune, dated at Springfield, January 29th, says:

Contrary to expectation, both Houses held morning sessions to-day—the Lower House without a quorum, and of course could do nothing but go through the order of the day. After these had been gone through with, the spirit of devilry and fun inspired the crowd and they went in for a lively time generally. Voris, of Shelby, was called to the chair. If Voris isn't funny he is nothing at all. Smith, of McLean, was made clerk pro tem. I will not attempt to go into particulars, but will only say that several funny bills were introduced. The first one was to divide the county of Cook, giving one-half to Indiana and the other half to Wisconsin. A substitute was offered, giving all the county of Cook to Indiana, except the Fifty-ninth Representative District. The roll was called and carried by an immense vote—176 to 9—being the largest vote ever given in the Illinois House of Representatives, and just 100 votes in excess of the constitutional vote of the House. When Voris' name was called thirty voices responded aye. The substitute was declared carried. Then followed a bill in regard to the marriage relation, which is as follows:

Section 1. That after this act shall have taken effect, all political, civil and social power in this State shall be and is hereby vested irrevocably in the female portion of the population above the age of sixteen years.

Sec. 2. It shall be the exclusive right and prerogative of the women to call on, visit and woo the other sex, escort them to balls, festivals, evening parties, church and lectures, and to protect them from barking dogs, hissing geese, bellowing cows, vicious sheep and grunting hogs on moonlight evenings; to propose and be accepted; and it shall be deemed a high misdemeanor for any male person between the ages of nineteen and seventy-five years to beg to be excused and to become the head of the family.

Sec. 3. Upon the marriage of any male person, all his property, real and personal, shall rest absolutely in his wife, and shall be subject to her exclusive disposition and control, and marriage settlements whereby any estate is or may be secured to such male person are hereby prohibited under penalty of death.

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any male person over the age of twelve years to be seen on the streets of any incorporated town or city of this State at seven o'clock in the evening, unless under the escort of a female qualified to vote under the provisions of this Act, and the women shall have the sole and exclusive right of keeping late hours, attending horse races, seven-up parties, Masonic and Odd Fellows' Lodges and scientific lectures.

Sec. 5. After this bill becomes a law, any male person convicted of preaching, offering to vote or voting at any elections, except for officers of sewing circles, missionary societies and temperance organizations, making a stump speech, running for Congress, drinking lager beer or refusing to cook or nurse the baby, shall be punished by confinement.

Sec. 6. Nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to authorize any male person to put on the Grecian bend or wear trails more than seven feet long, and any one violating this section shall, on conviction, be summarily punished. This Act to take effect and be enforced from and after the millennium.

FOR THROAT DISEASES and affections of the chest, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" or Cough Lozenges, are of great value. In Coughs, Irritation of the Throat, caused by Cold or unusual exertion of the vocal organs, in speaking in public or singing, they produce the most beneficial results. The Troches have proved their efficacy.

HOAGLAND'S

NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!

W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,

Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.

He respectfully refers to the following

CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

The Tenure of Offices

Of late it has frequently been reported that President Grant earnestly desires the repeal of the tenure-of-office law. But as he has made no recommendation to Congress for its repeal, these stories probably have little or no authority to rest upon.

The House has, however, again passed a resolution to repeal the law. An attempt has been made again to get the repealing act through the Senate, but it has been referred to a committee, which is almost equivalent to rejection. It may therefore be doubted whether the Senate will concur in the repeal of the law. Indeed we do not expect it will.

The law is based upon the doctrine that the power of making removals from office is vested in the same authority with the power to make appointments. That is, the appointing power is in the hands of the President and Senate, and the removing power is in the same hands. The President cannot appoint a person to office; it requires the joint action of the President and the Senate to do that, why then should the President be entrusted with the power to make removals? The two powers should be co-extensive, and the tenure-of-office makes them so. If the President wishes a person to be removed from office, all he has to do when the Senate is in session is to send in the name of another person for the place, and if the new nomination is confirmed, the first appointee is removed. If the Senate is not in session the President is expressly authorized to suspend any person who may be guilty of malfeasance in office and report them to the Senate at the next session. It is not easy to see how this regulation can be any obstacle in the way of the enforcement of honest dealing in the public service. Laws should not be enacted and repealed for special purposes, and we hope therefore that the Senate will not in this case concur in the action of the House. Even if the President should desire it, that would not be a sufficient reason. The law might be modified in some particulars; but the principle on which it is based, the principle that the power to make removals ought be exercised by the same authority which makes appointments, is without question the true one.

The Chinese Treaty.

Some newspapers are arguing that the late treaty with China obliges this country to bestow citizenship upon Chinese; and this assertion is made more loudly than ever since the suffrage amendment was proposed. The following is article six of the treaty:

The inhabitants of each country shall enjoy in the other all the rights of travel and residence accorded to the most favored citizens or subjects of any other State. But nothing herein contained shall be held to confer naturalization upon the citizens of the United States in China, nor upon the subjects of China in the United States.

So it will be seen that the text of the treaty itself directly refutes this supposition. Speaking of the attempt to establish a connection between the treaty and the proposed suffrage amendment, the San Francisco Bulletin says: "Had the adoption of any qualification been prohibited, in the amendment, there would have been no bar to admitting Chinese to the ballot-box, except the naturalization law, which agitators might some day attempt to have altered in this regard. Now there is a double check; first in the law named, which prevents the Chinese from becoming citizens, and second in the permission of a test that would exclude them on account of inability which only few of them would ever remove, even if they were ever allowed to be naturalized. The apprehension that the treaty with China obliges us to permit their naturalization is palpably at fault. The equal guarantees of that instrument only relate to the privileges of travel and residence, as the text plainly shews. Thus the Chinese get no claim to demand citizenship under the treaty, and are denied it by our laws and by public opinion."

WASHINGTON TERRITORY DELEGATESHIP.—Dr. D. S. Baker, of Walla Walla, has been for a day or two in Portland. During a month or two past we have heard his name mentioned in connection with the nomination for delegate to Congress from Washington Territory. We are certain the Republicans of that Territory could not do better than to make him their candidate. He is a man of large business experience, of extensive influence and of undoubted integrity. He was long a citizen of Oregon, was engaged here in various business enterprises, and is well known throughout the State. He is a thorough Republican, and if nominated would unquestionably be elected. If the Republicans of Washington Territory want a man for delegate who possesses good abilities, joined with character and influence, and free from cliques and selfish combinations, they could not better serve their own interests than by electing Dr. Baker. We know not whether he is a candidate for the position; we make these remarks only because we have heard his name mentioned in connection with it.

Small Notes.

We knew that Beriah's painful reticence on his favorite topic—himself—couldn't last. In his paper of Saturday we are favored with another column of feeble egotism. The question is, how long will his two remaining friends, Nesmith and Hawthorne, support a paper for the purpose of giving him a chance to spread himself before the world?

It is said that the reason Andy Johnson did not attend the inauguration ceremonies was that he was engaged all the forenoon in signing bills. The more probable reason is that he was turning the crank of the pardoning machine up to the last minute of his official incumbency. Since Grant's inauguration, for the first three years the telegraph has failed to give the "pardoning news."

This is the manner in which Beriah talks about President Grant's inaugural address: "Every sentence gives unmistakable evidence of an arbitrary will united to low instincts, of an ignoramus suddenly and unexpectedly elevated to power, assuming the role of a dictator and tyrant, without the grace to even recognize any obligation for his preferment," and so on for a column. Five years ago Beriah wrote of President Lincoln: "He combines the head of a mountebank with the heart of a despot." The "veteran editor" is like Mrs Toots, he "repeats" himself.

California exchanges state that the continuous dry weather there is creating considerable anxiety among farmers. The last rain, which fell more than a month since, was a very heavy one, and the ground was packed very hard as a consequence. In many places the surface was cracking open, and the latter sown wheat fields are not just now in a promising condition. About four inches more of rain distributed in light showers over the months of March and April, would insure a maturity of the crops. If no more rain should fall the crops would be a partial failure over a considerable part of the State.

The proposition to submit to the people of the State of Nevada, an amendment to the Constitution permitting women to vote, passed the Assembly at Carson City by one majority. The editor of the Enterprise feels jolly over it.

The name of the Secretary of the Navy is Borne, not Bovie, as first reported by telegraph. He possesses an intimate acquaintance with shipping and maritime matters generally, is a distant relative of the late Stephen Girard and is about fifty-three years of age.

It is a noticable fact that the only city in the United States which offers a public reception to ex-President Johnson is the rebel city of Baltimore, which shed the first blood in the war by murdering loyal soldiers, who were hastening from the North to defend the National Capital.

The incendiary who applied the torch to the church in Santa Clara, Cal., writes that he is one of a band of 68,000 in California who are with him in such villainy. The Marysville Appeal remarking upon the declaration, thinks the fellow means there are 68,000 Democratic voters in the State.

The cotton crop of our Southern States, though only half as large as the great crop of 1859-60, has netted quite as handsomely as any ever gathered. The market value of cotton is double what it was in 1860. It is estimated that the aggregate productions of the Southern States for 1868 amount fully to the value of $650,000,000.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, recently telegraphed to his friends in the Nevada Legislature that, "The word 'nativity' was stricken from the original draft of the Constitutional Amendment, so as to allow the exclusion of Chinese from its benefits." The amendment in the form in which it has gone to the States for their action upon it is cleared of the objections which we noticed when it was in the shape in which the Senate first passed it.

The Commercial Herald of San Francisco says that for three years past the banks of England, France and Germany have contained $500,000,000 of unused, idle capital, and that we might have borrowed this money and funded our debt on the most advantageous terms had it not been for "the vicious and dishonest policy openly advocated by leading men, and the equally dishonorable course of prominent journals relative to our public debt."

The present Attorney General, J. R. Hoar, is a son of Judge Samuel Hoar, of Massachusetts, who was sent by that State to South Carolina in 1844 to procure the liberation of some colored citizens of Massachusetts who had been seized on board of vessels in Charleston harbor by the chivalry and sold into slavery. Judge Hoar was banished from "the sovereign State of South Carolina" with insult and violence, and the affair created a great stir throughout the Union, and did much to create a sentiment demanding the abolition of slavery.

The war among the San Francisco dailies about the telegraphic dispatches still continues. The following is the Bulletin's last gibe at the Herald: Some of our contemporaries complain because the Herald of this city publishes telegraphic news occasionally which does not prove correct. This is wrong, for it cannot be expected that the man who writes up the news to a considerable extent in this city, can always tell what transpires in the Atlantic States. The Associated Press news stated that it was rumored the Pope was dead, and what was more natural than that the Herald should strive to outdo its neighbors, by saying he was actually dead?

The new Speaker of the House of Representatives, James Gillespie Blaine, is a native of Washington county, Pennsylvania, where he was born in 1830. He graduated at Washington College in 1847, and, adopting the profession of journalism, removed to Maine, where he edited the Kennebeck Journal and Portland Advertiser for several years. He was subsequently elected to the Maine Legislature, where he served four years, during two of which he was Speaker of the House. In 1862 he was elected a Representative from Maine to the Thirty-eighth Congress, and has been re-elected to each succeeding Congress. He is a man of decided ability, and has acquired a well deserved popularity.

The first effective locomotive engine built in America was built in Philadelphia from a draft by Rufus Tyler, in 1832. This gentleman was at that time considered the best mechanic in America. The wheels of the engine were made of wood, with broad rims and thick tires, the flange being bolted on the side. It was called Old Ironsides. She was first put in motion on the Germantown and Norristown Railroad. She ran one mile an hour and was considered the wonder of the day. It was ascertained the wheels were too high to draw the tender, and to overcome this difficulty the tender was placed in front of the engine. This kept the wheels on the track. The maker and his partner pushed the engine ahead until it attained some speed, and then jumped on the engine. Steam was only generated fast enough to keep it in motion a short time, so they would alternately push and ride during the whole trial trip. It was regarded as a success. The wheels were afterward replaced with iron wheels. The old engine is still in existence in Vermont.

LITTLE VINNIE REAM. The Washington correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle says in his latest letter:

"In one of the rooms in the southern wing of the Capitol may be found, at all proper hours, a young girl with a blouse and artist's cap, who has a contract with Congress to furnish a full length statue of President Lincoln. Ten thousand dollars have been appropriated for the purpose, one-half of which is to be paid on the completion of the model in plaster, and the remainder when the marble statue shall be completed. The model is finished, and is unveiled to the visitor. The attitude is not unlike that of the statue of Jefferson at the other end of the Capitol. Lincoln is represented as holding a scroll in his right hand, while the left rests tightly upon a table in the rear. The head is inclined forward, and the features are easily recognized as those of the martyred President. By some the statue is called a success, while others say the expression of Lincoln has been caught. The truth is, Lincoln had a changeable face, according to the mood, and men remember him as he appeared to them. Probably no sculptor ever lived who could chisel Mr. Lincoln in stone to the satisfaction of all who knew him, and all knowing him under varying circumstances. Miss Ream, the artist, is polite, self-possessed, quite good looking, and very conversational. Her face is round, two bright black eyes glisten and speak, her speech is western, and her complexion is not that of a 'pale artist plying a sickly trade.' She was born in a log cabin on the Mississippi, a painting of which hangs upon the walls of the studio. Allowing Miss Ream to be one of the best sculptors, it is fitting that she should be selected to place in enduring form the image of the great representative men of the West who, like her, drew his first breath in the log cabin of the pioneer."

STATE ITEMS

There are ninety one families in the town of M Minnville.

Marysville county is going to build a new bridge across Lake Labish.

The Courier says that over $30 000 has been subscribed to the McMinnville Water and Manufacturing Company.

Short time on the Oregon and California stage line will commence April 1st. The company intend to make better time this summer than ever before.

In Yamhill county there are 16 school districts that will have made no report for the present year. The number of scholars within the districts reporting is 1,530.

The remains of a man named P Dupnet were found a short time since, in an entirely desolate state, in the bushes a short distance from Shasta, Baker county. It appeared that on a fit of insanity, he had divested himself of his clothing, and had died from hunger and exposure. He was a native of France, and was about forty five years of age.

The Democrat says: The agent of the Wallamet Woolen Manufacturing Company's flouring mills is having the channel leading from the river to the mill made deeper, so that steamboats can run up and receive flour direct from the mill. In low water the channel has been too shallow to admit boats, and the company were compelled to cart their flour to the wharf at considerable expense.

The Yamhill Courier apologizes for the appearance of its last issue,—says the editor has been absent. No cause for apology, as a great improvement is noticeable in the paper. We find a local item or two instead of the long, loose, disjointed disquisitions on the "wool and shin bone question." The Courier ought not to be grudge the "nigger" a respite of one week.

From the Lucanist. Yesterday (Saturday) a messenger arrived from the Siwash Indian reserve, who gave the information that some difficulty had arisen among the Indians. Some horse stealing operations have been going on, but the precise nature of the disturbance is not known. Superintendent Huntington started over yesterday evening to see what the trouble amounts to.

From the report of Mr. Ashburner, the mining engineer, who has made a thorough survey of the coal fields of Coos Bay, it appears that the coal produced is of the quality known as "brown coal;" that it is a superior quality for domestic purposes, is remarkably clean, leaves but little ash, burns without disagreeable odor, and can be laid down in San Francisco at a cost of seven dollars per ton.

From the Albany Register. The stockholders in the Linn County Agricultural Association met at the Court House on Saturday, the 6th inst., and elected the following officers to serve during the ensuing year: David Froman President, J. H. Foster Vice President, Asa Jones Secretary, A. N. Arnold Treasurer, Joseph Nixon Chief Marshal. A committee of three, Messrs. Luper, Griffin and Foster, were appointed to revise the premium lists for the next Fair, and report at the next meeting of the Board, March 20, 1869.

From the Corvallis Gazette. Upon petition of leading citizens of Benton county, Governor Woods has pardoned William Marshall and Morris Gleason, who had been sentenced to confinement in our county jail for thirty days each, upon conviction of larceny, before Justice Robertson. These are the boys to whom we refer in another place. Hope it will be such a lesson to them as to prevent them in future from keeping bad company, and thus placing themselves in the way of temptation. The third and oldest one, who was sent up for ninety days, and who was considered the ringleader, is still in durance vile.

From the Albany Democrat. On Saturday afternoon, while the children of Mr. Moses Parker, of this city, were playing near a fire they had kindled in the yard, little Mary, aged about 8 years, went too near the blaze and her dress caught fire. The children screamed, and Mrs. Parker rushed out of the house and to the rescue of the child, and attempted to smother the flames by wrapping her own dress about the form of the girl. She succeeded, after the flames had communicated to her own apparel, in subduing the fire about little Mary; and but for the assistance of some men who had rushed to the scene, she would doubtless have perished a sacrifice for her child. But her sacrifice was of no avail, except to prolong the sufferings of her little one for a few short hours. On Monday morning the child died.

Odds and Ends.

Grocer's boy—Well, you know, they takes all the best tallow now to make butter with.—Punch.

Servant—Oh, missis, say, you're to ask why candles is dearer, as they don't give no better light.

The stylish hat out West just now is a prairie chicken. A taxidermist prepares them, and they are stuffed with the young ladies' heads.

The Clerk of Prince Edward county, Virginia, has just been removed after a service in that capacity of sixty years' duration.

A literary society in Halifax has been discussing—"Was unjust legislation the primary cause of the American revolution in 1776."

The velocipede will eclipse the trotting stallions at the State fairs this year. Michigan is already in the field with one thousand dollars premiums for the best and fastest velocipeding.

Some South Carolinians wanted to stop a social dance to which they had been invited, so they shot the fiddler in the abdomen, a lady in the thigh, and a one armed man in the shoulder.

A Minnesota steer recently had the misfortune to have a hay stack cave in over him. His owner discovered him two weeks afterwards, fat and hearty, having eaten his way thirty feet through the stack.

Johnson's Future.

The Sacramento Union has a good thing on the "future of A. Johnson." Mentioning the amusing report that he is to be sent to Europe by certain railroad interests "to negotiate railroad bonds," it says:

For such an agency he has peculiar, very peculiar, fitness. His qualifications may be inferred from his last message, where he has set forth in the plainest manner his conceptions of right and wrong in financial matters. Of course he will negotiate bonds on the principles there laid down, namely: that, after agreeing upon a loan to be paid, principal and interest in a certain way, the borrower may, a few years thereafter, propose to the lender the liquidation of the debt by merely paying the interest till the amount of that equals the principal. The intimation of such a mode of proceeding in advance would of course be injudicious, though honest. It might even tend to prevent getting any loan at all, for lenders are not apt to appreciate borrowers who do not regard a contract itself as a bond of honor as well as of law. Only a step beyond this official proposition of Johnson is another now offered by one Isaac Butts, and published broadcast by the New York World, namely: that when a Government chooses to consider the rate of interest at which it has itself offered its loans to be too high, it may treat the contract as "void from usury." Johnson would do well to include this admirable financial axiom in his batch of "principles." Let him say to the foreign capitalists whom he is going to impress with his Presidential prestige: "We, the borrowers, consider ourselves the sole judge of what we should pay for the use of your money. If you charge us more than we think right, we will take the loan and say nothing, but will repudiate it by and by for every dollar, being magnificently magnanimous," we may proceed, in the manner described in my last message to Congress, which, you will see, gives you all the money you lend us with as much interest as we think right. We are not in favor of repudiation—not, at least, till we have got the money. This sentiment would be captivating, very, to European capitalists. Every sweep would share them out of their senses as Johnson is evidently the man for their money. He should be sent at once to negotiate for bonds on this great principle—that the lender has no right at all, the borrower is bound to respect.

NATURE'S OBLITERATION OF WAR TRACES. An Eastern correspondent of the Advertiser says:

In August, I visited the Bull Run battle-field, and saw pretty, pure, delicate flowers growing out of the corpse's ammunition boxes, a little rose climbing up the gracefull head through the head of a Union grave, and a cunning scarlet verbena peeping out of a fragment of bursted shell, in which strange cup it had been planted. Wasn't that peace growing out of war? Even should the graceful and the beautiful ever grow out of the horrible and terrible things that transpire in this changing, but ever advancing world

OPPOSITION LINE OF STEAMERS.—A private letter from San Francisco says that a strong and well regulated Steamship company was formed in that city for the purpose of running a line of steamers regularly between San Francisco and Portland. The steamers are known to be capable for the Oregon trade, and are noted for good speed and splendid passenger accommodation. The people of Oregon will have an opportunity of showing whether or not they are willing to patronize good and staunch steamers at a reasonable price for freight and passage, as it will depend on the patronage these steamers will receive whether or not they will remain in our waters or not.

While you think of opposition, remember that KOHN & MICHEL, No 21 Front street, have the finest stock of Clothing and Dry Goods, and sell at very low prices.

ENTERPRISE TRIUMPHANT.—The OREGON DISPENSARY is rapidly gaining a reputation second to no house on the coast as a first class and cheap Drug Store.

Our success has been so flattering that we have sent for another Apothecary. We have also secured the valuable services of Dr. J. A. CHAPMAN as Consulting Surgeon and Physician. Those giving evidence of our desire to afford them every thing to our patrons for their liberal patronage. LORYEA & KALLENBERG.

73 First street.

If men or women could but find the fabled fountain which would restore health, and strength and beauty with what eagerness they would rush to drink its waters! It is found in the S. T.—1860. The sale of the Plantation Bitters is without a precedent in the history of the world. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this.
